

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments ix

Introduction 1

1. "The Line Is Being Drawn Every Day" 15
2. "No Difference on Account of the Difference of Sexes . . . concerning the War-Traitor" 37
3. "The Embarrassment Is to Know What to Do with Them" 47
4. "They Have Five Ladies . . . at Alton" 75
5. "Rebel Women . . . Are Engaged in the Reasonable Work" 88
6. "Thompson, Charles (Alias Mary Ann Pittman), Transferred to St. Louis" 102
7. "Mere Friction and Abrasion . . . of the War" 122
8. "The Female Military Prison . . . Is Continued" 147
9. "I Suppose She Could be Released" 165
10. "The Heroines of This Most Disastrous Period Have Been Forgotten" 180

Notes 197

Bibliography 231

Index 249

Gallery of illustrations beginning on page 137